

Loans have to be repaid, usually with interest, but grants and scholarships are gifts. That's why they are commonly referred to as "gift aid".

You will receive instructions for applying for scholarships after you have been offered admission. Our deadline date for submission is June 30 with a priority deadline of April 1.

The MU School of Medicine awarded more than 23 million dollars in financial aid during the 2021-22 academic year. The chart below shows the number of students that received each aid type and the total dollar amount awarded.

TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID

During your M1 year, you will have the opportunity to apply for one of the summer work programs that will earn you a stipend. The experiences last between four and eight weeks. Research, clinical and international opportunities are available. Find out more here: <https://medicine.missouri.edu/education/medical-education-curriculum/learning-experiences/summer/>

SERVICE COMMITMENT

Another option you have is a service commitment where you owe back your time rather than your money. These service grants will provide full tuition plus a living stipend. Find out more about these opportunities on our website.

- National Health Service Corp
- Armed Forces
- Indian Health Service

FINANCIAL AID TO-DO LIST

MYZOU.MISSOURI.EDU >> STUDENT CENTER

- Apply at FAFSA.ed.gov by April 1. Include school code 02516.
- ☐ Submit your Mizzou Med scholarship application by June 30.
- ☐ Research outside scholarships and service commitments.
- ☐ Accept your awards by July 1.
- ☐ Research credit-based loans.
- ☐ Complete loan paperwork with your loan servicer.

No matter where you are in your journey as a medical student, AAMC's FIRST provides informative resources at <https://students-residents.aamc.org/financial-aid/>